

What is an app?

An app for the iPhone is defined as a program that resides on your phone, i.e. the information is stored on your device. It doesn't need to access the internet every time you want to use it (although it does need the internet to install and download initially, then each month for our updates).

It is possible to view an internet-based application e.g. MIMS Online or MIMS Mobile on your iPhone but this does not reside on your phone and needs the internet each time you use it.

The benefit of an app? You can use it anywhere, anytime with the information at your fingertips on your device plus you are not relying on an internet connection to access valuable information.
